The Covenant of The Spiritual Hippocratic Oath of Divinity

I come now, on this day, and present myself before God, and before all in His Kingdom, and before all living Human Beings on Earth, to make this vow, that I will fulfill to the best of my ability and judgment, this covenant as stated below:

That I will freely give my love and reverence to the Lord God, to His Kingdom, to His Holy Angels, and to His spiritually born Son, Jesus Christ.

I will love and respect all forms of life that God has created, and will treat with kindness, care and affection all living creatures on Earth.

I will respect the good works of those whom God has called into His ministry, in whose steps I walk, and gladly share such knowledge as is mine with those who are to follow.

I will apply, for the benefit of all who are in need of spiritual guidance, all the graces which are given me through God's words, and will, to the best of my ability, avoid succumbing to immoral temptations, and will not allow vanity to enter into my character.

I will remember the relevance and power of Godly spiritual wisdom, and that faith, kindness, compassion and understanding can overcome or cast away any malevolent influence or force.

I will not be ashamed to express my love for God and my belief in His Kingdom, and in His Son, Jesus Christ, nor will I fail to call upon my brothers and sisters in the ministry of God when the skills of others are needed to assist the spiritually weak and troubled.

The Covenant of The Spiritual Hippocratic Oath of Divinity

I will respect the privacy of all human beings, and will not reveal shared information from those who have confessed wrong doings or acts of immorality, for their problems are not disclosed to me that the world may know. Most especially must I tread with care in matters of faith, emotional peril, life and death.

If it is given to me the opportunity to save a human soul from degradation, all thanks. But may it also be within my power to spiritually heal, and to overcome or cast out evil afflictions by using the power of Christ in the name of Jesus, and this awesome responsibility must be faced with great humbleness and awareness of my own frailty.

Above all, I must not play as God, but act only as His servant.

I will remember that I do not minister only to righteous people, but moreover, to the unrighteous and malevolent whose afflictions may affect a person's family, and their emotional and economic stability.

My responsibility as a minister of God includes these related problems, if I am to minister adequately to those who are in need of spiritual support.

I will teach the true words of God whenever I can, for the sake of saving a human soul from any level of degradation.

I will remember that I remain a member of society, with special obligations to all my fellow human beings, those that are spiritually conscious, of sound mind and body, as well as the infirmed, afflicted; those without faith and those who are immoral or malevolent.
